"INSTRUCTIVE TOYS"

TOPIC OF LECTURE

Mary L. Jacobs, Normal Instructress at Milwaukee, Formerly a Teacher in This City, Gives Address.

Before a crowd of instructors and professors, numbering seventy-five or more, and members of the Parent-Teachers Association, Miss Mary L. Jacobs, instructress at the Milwaukee Normal school, gave an address on "Instructive Toys," which revealed something new in the art of bringing up the younger folk on playthings. The discussion and lecture was presented on Monday afternoon at the Maryland avenue school, Milwaukee, where the Parent-Teachers Association exists.

It will be remembered that Miss Jacobs was for many years kindergarten instructor at the Jefferson school of this city, and only recently entered the roll of the Normal faculty at Milwaukee. A brief of her address is given as follows:

"If we parents will study what instincts lead the child to seek a certain article in the toyshop, they will have the key to the child's further education in life. Do not buy toys for a baby, but let it alone and do not attract it until it has passed the baby age. Then give it the clothespin, spoon, napkin ring and things about the house to amuse it. Toys may be divided into three classes: 1. The play ability of a toy, how far does it reach in developing the creative ability in a child? 2. Artistic quality combined with durability. 3. Suggestiveness of how work—what can the make of it as a toy of possibility?"

"There are three ages. At the age of from one to four, get the child a sandpile, have an even in the house. From the age of four until six, or seven is the imitative or imaginative period when children show creative power. This is the time for the ring games, pocket ball, hoop and stick. Let the books at that period be on animals, country life, or the industrial world. From eight to twelve, children begin to collect things. Then give them books on travel, birds, bugs and coins, and for the boys have the tool chest."

SEEK TO DISPROVE THEORY OF SUICIDE

Coroner Durham and Examining Physician Principal Witnesses Today in Knabe Murder Case.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Shelbyville, Ind., Dec. 3.—In the effort to disprove the suicide theory the state today introduced at the trial of Dr. William B. Craig, two witnesses who testified that the fatal wound in the neck of Dr. Helene Knabe began on the right side of the throat. A right handed person committing suicide naturally would draw the knife from left to right, it was contended.

Coroner Charles O. Durham was the chief witness at the morning session. His testimony was corroborated in the main by Dr. Ralph S. Chappell, who assisted at the post mortem examination. Dr. Durham declared that the neck wounds required two strokes of the knife and cross examination could not shake him on this point. Dr. Chappell made the same statement.

GARDEN HOSE HOLDER

Adjustable Support Maintains Nozzle At Any Angle.

Simple, but no doubt quite effective, is the hose nozzle holder designed by a dimestore man. A heavy base that will not upset easily has two uprights that are set wide apart at the bottom and converge at the top. A short horizontal bar is thrust at the top and balanced on the bar is a notched rod, with a clip at one end and a ring at the other. The "business end" of the hose is thrust between the bottom of the supports and the clip engages the nozzle. To regulate the angle at which the nozzle is held the notched rod is turned. When the bar is moved in close the hose is held upright, or in the position one would naturally want it if a fountain spray was attached. When the bar is extended the stream is thrown to the greatest radius.

GRAFT IN AFFAIRS OF INDIANS MUST COME TO A CLOSE

Commissioner of Indian Affairs Cato
Sells Threatens to Put Despoilers in Penitentiary.

(By Burton K. Sandish.)

Washington, Dec. 3.—The reign of graft in Indian affairs must end. That is the edict of Cato Sells, United States commissioner of Indian affairs, business man, lawyer, banker, public officeholder, and above all, a red-blooded, two-fisted fighting man.

Ruling over the affairs of a fast dying people, who own $900,000,000 worth of the richest grazing, oil, mineral land of the West, Sells has determined that the Indians shall no longer be the prey of a vast group in whom the spirit of graft was rampant—"carion," he calls them.

The heartless grasping of "attorneys" and "guardians" administering the estates of Indian children called most strikingly to Sells' attention the need of reform, and a quick one. While white children's estates are ordinary investments at a cost of only three per cent, the average price on Indian children's estates has been 20 per cent. These children are the richest average children in the country; their properties often are $50,000, and frequently their entire amount has been grafted by the unscrupulous.

"I am going to put a few of these men in the penitentiary as an object lesson," Sells declared today, "and I see that some of them are already in the penitentiary."

He feels that Oklahoma has had graft stamped into its very nature. Now he is working toward a complete reorganization of the Indian affairs system, so that the 300,000 Indians may have a fair treatment, so that their lands—the only grazing lands—shall yield more cattle, and more returns.

New leases of Indian lands to cattle kings, oil operators and miners will be at new figures. No more will the rich fields of the Osages go at $3 an acre; hereafter they will command $50 or more. This is only part of the ambitious program of this man who directs holdings vaster than the steel corporations. He is a constructive idea.

The defective cattle and sheep of the western ranges, owned by Indians, are being wiped out and replaced by sturdier strains under Sells' direction. He is opening up these lands to profitable investment instead of to grafters.

He is seeking to rebuild the strength and education of the remaining Indians. Thirty-four industrial schools for Indian children are now under his care and there are likely to be more before his regime is ended. Irrigation lands too, are opening rapidly. Many of the Indians are having their opportunity to cultivate these places, but heretofore they have been sent in without proper equipment. Sells proposes that this system shall end, and that the Indians shall have the same opportunity that the white men have.

The job of Indian commissioner, with him, is a business proposition. He answered an altruistic call when he took the position for he had retired from active business, and had planned to settle down in Texas, the state he has lived in ever since he left Iowa after a brilliant career as a United States attorney.

Secretary Lane let it be known that he wanted a man of ability, not a job-seeker, a man of red-blood and purpose, not a weakling. He heard of Sells and his fight against pension grafters in the middle west, and he found that Sells was indeed a regular fighting man, with ability, altruism, enthusiasm. And that's how today, Secretary Lane has given a man on the job of Indian affairs fourteen hours a day, and that's why a new era is dawning in Oklahoma and the other Indian states.

As soon as congress is allowed to stop working on tariff and currency and can devote a little time to governing Washington (which is one of its jobs) the national capital is to be rid of the block of ancient and ramshackle buildings which about the capitol grounds at the northwest corner. The famous peace monument, in the opinion of numerous congressmen, should not be compelled to have as a near neighbor, one of the dirtiest and ugliest spots in Washington.

Although congress has taken over practically every parcel of surrounding property with the exception of this frowzy out at heels block of buildings, which include numerous saloons, stuffy two-story shops, fruit stands and, in the center, innumerable Italian rooming-houses. This block, bounded by Pennsylvania avenue and B. street, First and Second streets, contains more garbier and other malodorous odors than any other six blocks in Washington. Congressmen are wont to walk past it on their way to the capitol. It's directly "under their noses," and not being pleasant to the legislative olfactory senses, the place must be cleaned up—if Congress ever gets the time.

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The president's message, which appeared in these columns last evening, is noted for brevity and a clear statement of national conditions. His attitude towards Mexico is clearly defined, and Huerta and his sympathizers are given to understand that recognition is out of the question.

There may be some sections of the country where the farmers are suffering for lack of bank accommodations, but this is the exception, and not the rule. The average farmer of the west and northwest is insulated when his credit is questioned, and he has occasion to be, so long as he can sell for cash and buy on time, as is the general custom. Old world conditions, in comparison, are wide of the mark, text-book political economy to the contrary notwithstanding.

The paragraph concerning monopoly and the Sherman anti-trust law is suggestive of future reform legislation, and it is safe to assume that regulation is still in its infancy, in the mind of the president.

What the president has to say about our island possessions, will be endorsed by all thinking people. So far as the Philippines are concerned, we have long had the bull by the tail, and are simply waiting for some honorable means to let go. The message throughout is an honest expression of an honest man.

FAIR MINDED PEOPLE.

In the last analysis, the American people are a fair-minded people. It matters not how bitter the fight may develop in a political campaign; the final verdict is accepted, because it usually represents the will of the majority.

This characteristic is being tested today, as never before, because the chief executive of the nation was elevated to office, not by a majority vote, but because of dissension in the ranks of the opposition.

The combined vote of Taft and Roosevelt was about sixty per cent of all the votes cast, and represented very largely the republican strength of the nation. This means that President Wilson was elected, not by a narrow margin, but by only forty per cent of the voting population.

What is true of the president is true of the new representatives in congress, wherever a three-cornered fight prevailed. This means that the democratic party is in control through accident, and not because a majority of the people lent their support.

That President Wilson appreciates the situation is evidenced by the fact that he is attempting to serve all the people, according to his lights, and without much regard to party interests.

The people like a man who assumes responsibility without fear or favor. This was what made Roosevelt so popular, and the lack of this disposition contributed to Taft's weakness. Roosevelt set the pace for the Czar in the republic, and Wilson is playing a close second.

Judgment will be suspended while the latter is working out his salvation or ruin. No man has yet been strong enough to long succeed as a national leader without the aid of a united party, and President Wilson will prove no exception to the rule.

It is idle to talk about the independent voter holding the balance of power. The independent voter is a political orphan. He never holds anything but a delusion.

A republican form of government is dependent upon political parties for existence. There has never been but two great parties in this country, and there never will be. The democratic party survived, after years of internal strife, and all sorts of heresies. It will continue to give the country minority rule until the republican party wears of strife and dissensions, and comes to its senses.

The party is greater than any man connected with it. This fact Mr. Roosevelt discovered, to his undoing, and President Wilson is due for a similar awakening before he retires to private life. American politics has no permanent place for the Czar as a ruler.

FAIR PLAY.

The Evansville Review recently published an editorial entitled "Play Fair, Janesville," which took the Gazette to task for a news story on the Janesville Driving Park association, which appeared in these columns on November 24. The offending paragraph as written, near the close of the article, referred to the prospects of a fair at the old fair grounds, next year, and as written, read:

"In this way the show would 'not' compete with the Evansville fair, or serve to detract from the popularity of its neighbor's exhibition."

Through a typographical error the little word "not" was left out, hence the cause for the disturbance. To an unprejudiced mind this error would not have been noticed, as the balance of the paragraph makes it clear that Janesville had no thought of interference.

The good people of Evansville need no assurance of the good will of Janesville people. The excellent fair, so well established, is liberally supported by people from the county seat city, and there is no desire to detract in any way from its popularity. There is no reason, however, why the old county fair ground should not be utilized along the lines outlined by the Driving Park association. Neither is there any reason why this can not be done without interfering with our neighbors either at Evansville or Beloit.

The county seat is usually located near the center of the county. It is usually the center of population and the most easy of access. In many cases it supports a county fair.

All of these conditions apply to Janesville, and the county fair, so long a feature, should not have been abandoned. The Gazette believes that the people of the county generally will be glad to see the old grounds re-opened, and will cheerfully lend their aid in making the fair a success. This can be done without injury to the fair at Evansville, and there is no occasion for friction.

After Jaurez has been captured and re-captured a few more times maybe its people will have the presence of mind to erect grandstands, admission gates and ticket offices.

Not so much is heard about the ultimate consumer these days. Probably he is busy trying to figure out how to buy $50 worth of Christmas presents with $10.

And it begins to look as though the secretary of state knows as little about the president's Mexican policy as the president himself.

Perhaps Princess de Sagan values her husband's ivory back-scratcher more as an heirloom than through personal associations.

How is congress to distinguish between the special session and the regular session when there is no mileage in between?

"The girl of today conceals her ears." Which, in view of what is likely to be said in her presence, is a wise precaution.

At least John Lind might lighten the suspense by getting up and making the announcement that he hasn't said anything.

Perhaps congress can compromise with Dr. Cook by paying him mileage on the North Pole trip he claims to have taken.

Senor Huerta must have exercised some self-restraint, if there are still millions in Mexico that he can help himself to.

The 1913 record of 135 killed and only 140 wounded seems to show that hunters are much more deadly shots than soldiers.

Another embarrassing thing about the income tax is that it may reveal the source of some people's incomes.

With an income of more than $1,000,000,000 a year, the government is lucky to escape its own income tax.

The Cucaracha slide is not a new dance, despite the announcement that it has developed a fresh movement.

Russia does not take kindly to American advice. But it seems to like American race horses.

It doesn't seem exactly fair to put eleven farmers on a jury to try a horse doctor for his life.

Anyway, Colonel Goethals has not shown any signs of going upon the lecture platform.

PRESS COMMENT.

"An Ornerly Cuss." One man says that when he is on a jury he always decides against the best lawyer, and at elections he always votes against the party in power, and that in this way he does the right thing nearly every time.—Superior Telegram.

Placing Pearls Before Swine. The fellow with some brains but with little moral sense who is "serving time" for his crime, is rarely worth the efforts of the "uplifters." To on-lookers, sympathy, in such case, becomes abhorrent and disgusting.—Milwaukee News.

Twin Evils. If many the drink traffic is considered the worst of evils. If others the social evil with its consequent disease is regarded as worse than the drink traffic. No matter which is correct, these evils exist, they exist co-ordinately, and to rid the cities of one is to aid greatly in getting rid of the other. To fight one is to fight the other and all their harmful bunch of kindred.—Darlington Democrat.

How Racine Views It. The action of the Racine county board in appropriating $12,000 for the maintenance of Sunny Rest tuberculosis sanitarium is to be commended. There is no institution in the county that needs and deserves so hearty support and co-operation more than this hospital which is established to fight man's worst enemy—the great white plague.

The fight against tuberculosis should have very encouraging and every support that individuals and societies at large can offer.

It is a heart to alleviate human suffering—a battle for humanity.—Racine Journal News.

Pay Cash and Pay Less.

One of the Marinette meat markets has inaugurated a real reduction in the cost of living. It has decided to sell for spot cash only and with this new policy announces a reduction in the prices of its commodities. There is no question that the selling for cash only system, results in a saving and this saving can be divided between dealer and patron. It is regrettable that matters in the retail world are not so that all stores and markets could do business on this plan. Cash expenditures not only mean an actual saving in commodity cost, but people paying out real money are always more particular about the extent and kind of purchases. Listen the day when we will all be on a cash basis.—Marinette Eagle Star.

DEMOLISH THIRD WING OLD WISCONSIN CAPITOL

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Dec. 3.—Demolition of the old north wing of the state capitol was completed this week, thus removing the last remnant of the historic building erected in the late sixties. The work is to be done under the supervision and direction of the capitol architects, George B. Post & Sons of New York, the senior member of whom died last Friday. The bids must be submitted by December 16. "AN HOUR BEFORE DAWN"

A startling female detective play.

"An Hour before Dawn," a mystery play introducing the greatest mechanical marvel of the age, is based on the astounding discovery by Signor Livini, an Italian engineer, of a powerful elemental destructive force (technically known as infra red ray) which has recently startled the scientific world. Prof. Wallace, a scientific authority, strenuously objects to his son Richard's romance with Violet Dane, a chorus girl. A heated altercation between father and son follows, during which the Professor threatens to disinherit the headstrong boy if he persists in his infatuation. The next day the Professor is found dead. Kate Kirby is engaged to trace the crime. On the strength of motive, the lovers are suspected, until Miss Kirby traces the scientist's murder to his latest invention, a deadly machine to direct and impel a terrific explosive force, by which Miss Kirby demonstrates the manner of the professor's death. Whose hand operated the wondrous contrivance?

A sequel to "Chelsea 7750," and the fifth of the Famous Players Series.

PLEASANT WEDDING ON LAST EVENING

Miss Emma Elizabeth Kaempflein becomes Bride of Arnold Fuchs—Many Out Of Town Guests.

A pretty wedding took place last evening at seven at the St. John's Lutheran church on North Bluff street. The bride, Emma Elizabeth Kaempflein, who is the daughter of Mrs. J. Kaempflein, of 603 Fourth Avenue, was happily married to Arnold Fuchs, son of the Rev. S. W. Fuchs, pastor of the St. John's church. This wedding is the first to be performed in the church, which was dedicated on last Sunday.

Rev. Fuchs, father of the groom, married the couple, while the Rev. A. F. Augustin, of Eau Claire, delivered the sermon. The organist was Prof. H. Bredow, of Sumner, Iowa.

Following the wedding, the happy couple were tendered a reception at the bride's mother's home, on Fourth Avenue.

The Misses Emily Mosser and Mida Bredow, acted as bridesmaids, while Harry Fuchs and Rev. S. Sandrock of Watertown, were groomsmen. Mrs. Edward Schmidt of Chicago, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor. The little Misses Dorothy Kaempflein and Editha Meise, were the flower girls and Miss Adelaide Fuchs, sister of the groom, acted as ringbearer.

The bride was attired in brocaded chiffon over duchess satin, and carried a wreath of flowers.

The out of town guests were Rev. and Mrs. Sandrock of Watertown; Rev. and Mrs. S. Sandrock of Watertown; Rev. and Mrs. P. Pichler of Beloit; and Mr. and Mrs. C. Bohner of Dunbar, Wisconsin. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schmidt and son of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. F. Heise and daughters of Chicago.

HARD TO OBTAIN

BUTTER AND EGGS

Dealers Unable to Find Enough Eggs from Farmers to Meet Demand.

Market Story.

No relief is expected from the high prices of eggs and butter, and the dealers are demanding higher prices for strictly fresh products. "It is nearly impossible to purchase eggs that will stand the test and the best that most of the dealers are offering is first class storage products for the farmers are not bringing enough eggs to the market to even hope to satisfy the demand," explained one of the Janesville dealers yesterday.

"When we do buy the so-called fresh eggs, half of them are bad and after sorting them we can make no profit at selling them less than thirty-five and thirty-seven cents per dozen."

Butter that is of good enough quality to satisfy the people is becoming hard to find and a few dealers are demanding thirty-seven and thirty-eight cents per pound. Practically no dairy butter is being offered and that which is brought on the market is of very poor quality.

For the past two months the dealers that have been offered have been of very low quality, but better shipments are being received and the new lemons are large and of a fine color denoting their excellence. They are selling at forty cents per dozen.

The recent spring-like weather has also affected the grain market, standing the prices downward. The dealers are looking forward for cold weather to stimulate trade on the market.

Optimist and Pessimist.

One of the recent definitions of the pessimist and the optimist is, the pessimist is the man who sits in the last seat of the rear car of the train and sees everything apparently going from him, and the optimist sits on the front of the engine—on the cowcatcher—and sees everything coming his way.

Janesville Police Sending Cards With Description of Walter Matson to All Parts of the Country.

Cards with a photograph and description of Walter Matson, the fourteen year old youth who left his home on North First street on August 30th, are being sent to all parts of the country by the Janesville police in hopes of finding some trace of the runaway. At the time of his disappearance, the A. H. Miller carnival was leaving this city, and it was reported to the boy's mother that he had enlisted with the show. Upon investigation this proved to be false and the boy's mother received no word of his whereabouts. A quiet investigation was conducted among relatives but no trace of the lad could be found and the local authorities are in hopes of finding him by advertising.

His description is given as follows: Weight, 115 pounds, brown hair, blue eyes, and five feet seven inches in height. At the time he left this city he was attired in a brown suit and had taken overalls with a small bird on the front of the collar. As the youth was of very quiet habits, was not addicted to "bumming" and had only a small amount of money, it is a mystery to the local police how he was able to stay away from his home for such a length of time.

Sport Snap Shots

Jack Johnson has come in for a new wave of popularity in Paris. He has taken to the wrestling game and managed to put the rollers under a German mat wizard very unpopular with the Parisians. Thus making himself the idol of the day. Johnson's behavior in the mat affair greatly pleased the Frenchmen, for at the end of the match after Johnson had twice thrown the Tuetoric person the latter became enraged and struck John with a resounding wallop in the face. Johnson merely grinned and refused to retaliate. Most all of those present crowded about the ring and for a while it appeared that the German person would get his. The impending riot was prevented by police interference. Johnson left amid cheers and a taste of popular acclaim at this hour must seem mighty sweet to the big smoke.

Ball players seem, as a rule, to go their best clip between the ages of twenty-five and thirty. As far as the family Bibles of some of our most prominent diamond heroes shows that the most of them are at least twenty-five and are getting on toward the end of the third decade. Walter Johnson, for instance, is just a few weeks past twenty-five. Ty Cobb is twenty-seven and Eddie Collins will be twenty-seven next May. Homerun Baker will be twenty-seven in March. Mathewson is thirty-three and of course old Honus Wagner is the graybeard of the game. He'll be forty next February. Frank Howard is not far behind Wagner and will soon be thirty-nine. Chris Speaker is thirty and so is Jimmy Archer. Perhaps Joe Wood is one of the youngest of the well-known stars, he having just turned twenty-four last October. The average age of the speed kings seems to waver around thirty.

Time was when a manager in search of promising recruits wouldn't look at the fielding averages and declared that he didn't care for the player who dodged chances merely that he might fatten his average. This point of view seems to have passed away, however, for a glance at the dope shows that the men who had the most chances last year are not on the market and their managers are willing to let them go for a song. The boys who go after everything, regardless of whether they are good or bad, don't seem to be the hit they were of yore. For instance: Gaier, Detroit first sacker, leads the league on dodges around the initial bag and yet Jennings keeps him on the bench most of the time. Jimmy Callahan has tried many times to replace Buck Weaver and yet Buck has had a great many more chances than the average Callahan holds onto him for lack of a presentable successor. Somewhat the same thing is true of Jimmy Austin with the Browns. He leads all the third sackers in chances and yet he has often been booked to get a can. But this far no Brown manager has been able to replace him. Ed Sweeney, the Yank catcher, has had 181 chances the season past and yet Chance would trade him as soon as he could. It looks sad for players who like to go after everything that comes their way.

The three most successful football centers of the season just closed were Haughton of Harvard, Vest of Michigan and Stagg of Chicago. Haughton was the undisputed champion of the East; the Midway center lost everything in the west. Vest was the best in the Michigan conference and Stagg was the best in the Pennsylvania conference. Each was a star in his own right and who has been named by some to be the best center in the business in Great War.

CURTIS SELECTS AN ALL-CLASS ELEVEN

Best Players Outside of Regulars Chosen by Mentor Yesterday—Selection is Good.

The all-class selection for the best football eleven from the local high school outside of the regulars was chosen yesterday by Coach Curtis. His pick represents wonderful material for next year's squad. Harry Fuchs is selected to run quarterback, over George Spohn, with Spohn going to right end. Close rivalry between these two men was noticeable all year. The selection has not the name of Raymond Barnes on it, who was slated easily for a tackle position. Barnes played with the senior team, when in reality he was but a junior. His studies at that time were largely below the standard set, which would have qualified him for the senior class, and consequently his name is taken from the list. He was easily the best tackle in the school outside of the regulars, and he would in many cases be placed over them by many students. Not a senior made the all-class pick. Following is the selection: Left end, Paul Richards; left tackle, Phillip Taylor; left guard, George Brown; center, John Heath; right guard, Robert More; right tackle, Marvin Dudley; right end, George Spohn; quarterback, Harry Fuchs; left halfback, Fred Lewis; right halfback, Thomas Cronin; fullback, Winfield Rau (captain).

The Beloit papers state that the Beloit high school lose all but two regulars and two subs at graduation next June, while the local have eight of this year's regulars, together with the eleven men on the all-class team. It looks like Beloit's chances next year were slim, but they may come back.

THE PIONEER OF MODERN TRAVEL

Pennsylvania Lines the first to adopt Steel Rails, Block Signals, Limited Trains, Comforts for Passengers.

When you board a Pennsylvania train nowadays you find yourself surrounded by every modern convenience that goes for safety and convenience of the traveler. It is fitting that the Pennsylvania Lines should have them. The road was the first to exercise the greatest precaution for safety, in introducing the block signal. It proved to us the superiority of the heavy steel rails, both for safety and smoothness of riding. Then came the limited trains which developed the traveling pleasure. In the Pennsylvania Shops at Altoona, Pa. experiments are being made constantly to perfect some new device that will add to the betterment of the traveling public. Remarkable foresight and initiative are displayed here and the same energy permeates the entire system. It was here that the idea of an all steel train came into being and now it is the Pennsylvania's again. Herein is revealed an attitude on the part of a corporation that is of immeasurable value to the traveler. Your comfort is in mind at all times, and even in this the Pennsylvania can truly be said to be the Pioneer.

MAY PLAY ON BELOIT BASKETBALL QUINTET

Eider Is Out for Guard, While Korst May Land Forward Berth—Both are Local Men.

The Beloit college basketball squad, composed of about fifteen men, were out for the first practice of the season Monday night. Among the star material were Ray Eider and Donald Korst of Janesville, who are going to make strong bids for places on the college five for the coming winter. Eider was the sensation of the football eleven this fall, and his experience previously in basketball, should aid him greatly at the college this year. Korst, on the other hand, is one of the speediest forwards the local high school ever saw. In his senior year he made all-state forward at the state tournament. He was out of the game last year at Beloit because of a broken ankle, sustained in football.

Both these men are of high calibre as Coach Evans will find out before many more practices are completed. Glenn McArthur of this city, is making a bid for center, while Joseph Ryan will try for guard. Wilford and Turner will be back on the squad this winter to help Captain Ward settle the title of the Little Five Conference. The center position will be the hardest to fill. Aldrich, end on the football team, will make a try for that place. He is working good at present. Coach Evans has secured a game with Marquette university of Milwaukee, also with Wisconsin at Madison. He hopes to secure a return game with the Badgers, to be played at Beloit later in the season. Chicago university, who barely defeated Beloit last winter, in a hard and interesting game, will be taken on, if dates agree.

FEDERAL GAME LAWS TO INCREASE SPORT

Janesville Nimrods Confident That New Law Preventing Spring Shooting Will Be Beneficial.

With the passing of the federal law preventing spring shooting of aquatic fowl throughout the United States, Janesville sportsmen are discussing the chance for an increased amount of sport in this section of the state. On the closing of the season by the state law set at November 20th, Janesville nimrods were disgusted with the season's shooting as only at rare and far apart intervals were there enough ducks and geese in the country to make even fair shooting. The corn fields near this city in the past were the best feeding grounds in southern Wisconsin and northern Illinois, for ducks and geese. Janesville afforded them an excellent relay station, the geese using lake as a resting place upon returning from the feeding grounds. Very few of the birds have been bagged this year, one prominent hunter of this season only seeing one goose in his many efforts during the entire open period.

Wisconsin was one of the first states to close spring shooting and the state hunters have been claiming the same since the slaughter was allowed in Illinois and surrounding states. With no spring shooting, the fowls are afforded an excellent chance to migrate safely and local sportsmen are confident that some of the old-time fall shooting will be enjoyed at the lake within a few years. Considerable discussion has been raised regarding the conflicting of the state and federal law in setting the closing date. By the new law this season closes November 15th and it is expected the legislature will change the state closing date, the 20th, to conform with the federal law, meaning a shorter and more active season.

NEW BASKETS WILL BE DONE NEXT WEEK

Delay in Constructing New Backboards Causes High School Squad to Wait Another Week.

The high school basketball five will have to wait another week before they can hold their initial practice. The new backboards which are being constructed by Prof. Coplan and his boys in manual training, have not been completed, and it will take all of this week to finish them up in good shape. A coat of light varnish is all that will be put on the bounding board with a surface as smooth as glass to play on. Leslie Stewart is in charge of the construction of the backboards and he is using the hardest wood that can be obtained, with two-by-fours on the back. The sharp corners about the gym are being padded up to prevent injuries to the men. Captain Hemmings awaits next Monday afternoon with interest, in hopes that his squad under the direction of Coach Curtis, might make their start for another year's work.

PANAMA CANAL TOLL CHARGES DISCUSSED

One of Main Subjects on Program of National Rivers and Harbors Convention.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Washington, Dec. 3.—Panama canal tolls, the five per cent subvention for vessels flying the American flag, and improvement of waterways were the main subjects scheduled for discussion in the three day convention of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress which opened here today. President Wilson opened the convention today with an address outlining the administration's attitude toward the development of the country's transportation facilities. Secretary of War Garison is also scheduled to deliver an important address in his position as head of the board of engineers charged with river and harbor work. Considerable attention will be paid to the question of developing an inland waterway from New England to the Florida Keys. Among the scheduled speakers are Senator Fletcher, Representative Burgess, of Texas, Representative Kelly, Representative Thompson, Secretary of the American Shipbuilding Association, Secretary of the Kansas City Commercial Club, W. B. Thompson, of New Orleans; U. S. Conway, of Chicago. By way of diversion, the delegates will be privileged to attend a "ladies night" at which several women speakers will air their views on river and harbor work, a movie show presented by Elliott Woods, superintendent of the U. S. Capitol and an illustrated lecture on South America, by John Barrett, director of the Pan American Union.

STRICKLAND GILLILAN GETS TIRED OF EAST

Author of "Finnigan to Flannigan" Wanted to Come Back to Democratic Middle West.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 3.—Strickland Gillilan has just moved to this city from Baltimore, Md., because he was tired of the East and "wanted to come back to the democratic, understandable Middle West." The famous author of "Finnigan to Flannigan" says he was tired of being dressed up.

"Why, I've gone weeks and weeks, down East," he said, "without having my shoes, coat, collar or tie off, except when I went to bed! I could not really go back to barefoot times, or I should accumulate far more blisters than bliss; I can not go back to the shirt-sleeved twilight. I can not go and arrange polo, made from a dogwood handpike, laid in two convenient forks of an apple tree, and work at it in the twilight, or some one would see me and spread the glad tidings that I was a nut."

"But there is the language and the life of the Middle West, where I was born, where I can understand and be understood. Some people don't belong East at all. I am one of them. I stayed down there because I am stubborn. I don't need me, and didn't want me, and I lived in the best part of it just to show what a Hoosier-trained Buckeye product could do if he darn pleased. 'In all these years of sojourn in the wilderness, I had a hard time picking out companions who had ever made eye soap, with a lopper shaped like an inverted pyramid, who had ever taught a calf to drink from a bucket; who had ever 'hogged' the hog; who had ever eaten in the kitchen; who had ever managed with one new store suit every other year; who knew what it meant to get a stone bruise, ground itch or a scummed toe; who had ever 'bombed' a bad horse or baited with bubblebees, or had ever sat around a fireplace, with father's home-knit socks hanging on the rung of a chair and the cream jar standing close by with mother turning it now and then, so it would sour uniformly. How did I stand the loneliness? I didn't."

"How can such a man fit in and content himself among a people bred to formality and finger bowls and bridge and pseudo politeness and tuxedos and demitasses and Germans and hardwood floors and daily baths?"

Correct. Schoolmaster (at end of object lesson)—"Now, can any of you tell me what is water?" Small and Grubby Urchin—"Please, teacher, water's what turns black when you put your hands in it!"

Croup and Cough Remedy. Croup is a terrible disease. It attacks children so suddenly they are very apt to choke unless given the proper remedy. There is nothing better in the world than Dr. King's New Discovery. Lewis Chamberlain, of Manchester, Ohio, writes about his children. "Sometimes in severe attacks we were afraid they would die, but since we proved that a certain remedy Dr. King's New Discovery is, we have no fear. We rely on it for croup, coughs and colds." Traveling Bed for Baby. Made much easier by fitting a small hair mattress into a suit case. The one used in a baby carriage will do. It will be very comfortable for the baby to lie on whenever the suit case could be opened. Tie a large cambric pocket in the cover to contain all the clothes and small things to be used for the baby on the journey. When not in use the case may be closed and easily put out of the way.

Wonderful "Water Vine." One of the wonders of the Guatemala jungle is the "water vine," a black, snakelike, leafless stem, dropping from the celba and mahogany trees to which it has climbed. It is said to contain a quart of water to every foot. When the stem is cut the water spurts forth in a refreshing stream. Moisture is drawn up from the soil, and filtered through the pores of the plant.

Important Shipping Point. As a distributing and trans-shipping center and a coaling station, Alton ranks with the most important ports in the near east. Millions of skins and hides are shipped to Europe and the United States every year.

THIS FAMILY FINDS PLAN TO SOLVE COST OF LIVING

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Dec. 3.—E. M. Weaver of Woodruff, Wis., and his family have attacked the high living cost problem with unusual success. Each went into the woods during the hunting season just closed and killed a deer. The husband and wife and four sons brought home a deer, a pig, and fresh, smoked and salted venison is on hand in sufficient quantity to last all winter. Weaver is a forest ranger in the employ of the state. W. E. Clow, of James H. Clow & Sons, iron manufacturers of Chicago, has written the state game warden's department that having hunted all over the United States, he was convinced that nowhere are the provisions of the hunting laws observed so well as in Wisconsin. He has already applied for license numbers 1, 2 and 3 for next year. He and his companions have had these numbers for several seasons, applying a year in advance.

SUBMITS HIS OPINION ON PLUMBER'S LICENSES

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Madison, Wis., Dec. 3.—Any person lawfully engaged in the business of plumbing in this state at the time of the passage of the plumbing act, as a master plumber is upon payment of the required fee entitled to a license regardless of his apprenticeship or his qualifications as a plumber. The same is true as to journeymen plumbers and plumbing contractors. This is the opinion submitted to the state board of health by Attorney General Owen. This makes final the board's contention that it has no right to question any man's right to a license if he was in the plumbing business when the act became operative.

Athena Knit Underwear disposes of the life-long complaint that knit underwear relies entirely for its fit upon the elasticity of the fabric

ATHENA UNDERWEAR
FOR WOMEN, MISSES, CHILDREN
IS TAILORED TO FIT WITHOUT STRETCHING

HOW many women would accept a tailored suit which depends for its fit over the bust and the hips upon the elasticity of its materials? Yet there are scores of brands of knit underwear which depend almost entirely upon the elasticity of the fabric for a semblance of shapeliness.

Athena Underwear, on the contrary, is cut to fit, tailored to fit, and actually and truthfully does fit without stretching.

The features combined for the first time in Athena Underwear all contribute to its tailored perfection

THE PATENT-FITTED SEAT—The most notable improvement ever made in underwear designing, being so shaped that it clings snugly to the figure in any posture.

THE THREE-CORNERED GUSSET—Relieves the strain at the thigh, giving greater comfort and longer wear.

THE PERFECTED SHOULDER-STAY—Keeps the garment from stretching down over the shoulder and holds the sleeve in place.

THE FITTED SHOULDER AND SLEEVE—Give the natural form to the bust and the proper tapering to the back.

THE EXTRA-ELASTIC CUFF—Holds the sleeve in place and keeps it from slipping up on the arm.

SHAPING AND SIZING—Giving Athena garments the actual body lines and proportions, and affording sizes that will fit with tailored precision.

You can buy Athena at the price you have been paying for ordinary underwear. Made in thirty-eight fabrics—comprising sheer light-weight hile and cotton, light-weight wool, heavy-weight cotton (fleece and unfleece), heavy-weight wool, silk and wool. Twenty-eight distinctive shapes.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

THINKING OF TWO THINGS AT ONCE.

"BUT I can't think of two things at once," I heard a woman protest the other day when she was asked to do something which involved that operation. She said it with an air of righteous indignation, as if that were a thing that should not be expected of anyone.

Can you think of two things at once? We often hear the praises of concentration sung. And it is a great thing to be able to concentrate. But it is not to concentrate on one thing to the exclusion of other important things. The well-trained mind is able to concentrate when necessary and to diffuse itself over two or more interests when that is desirable. And no one who cannot do both can be thoroughly efficient in either the big or little affairs of life.

Take housekeeping, for instance. No woman can possibly be a good housekeeper until she has learned to think of at least two things at once. If she cannot do that, she will be sure to burn the cake, while she is talking to the peddler or forget to order the dinner because she is so intent on her ironing. Indeed, as anyone will tell you, most good housekeepers think of not merely two or three things, but a great many things at the same time.

Again, in so simple a matter as taking a picture with an ordinary camera, it is necessary to think of at least two things at once, and probably more. You must think of the light, the time and the focus, simultaneously, and if you forget any one, you spoil the picture. And then you must not fail to turn your film; and if you have remembered the other things, you are likely to forget that, as most of us can testify, from bitter experience. It is probably because so many people cannot think of two things at once, that such a large percentage of amateur pictures are failures.

Some years ago I went househunting for the first time. All my life I had wanted an open fireplace, and I was determined to find a house that should have one. And so I did. Indeed, it had several of them. But it did not have any furnace pipes in three of the rooms, and only one closet on the bedroom floor—little matters which I had overlooked, because I couldn't think of more than one thing at once.

A friend of mine was once invited to the house where a famous chess player was giving an exhibition. He was playing eight games at once. He sat alone, in a room upstairs. His opponents were scattered all over the house, and a messenger came and told him what plays each one had made. Then he told the messenger what plays he wanted made for him. And he won every game.

Of course such a thing as that is an abnormality. But it shows the extent to which the human mind can be trained to diffuse itself.

DO YOUR CHRISTMAS BAKING EARLY; IMPROVES WITH AGE

How fortunate for the housekeeper that holiday foods are the better for making, and some of them baking, a month or so in advance. This is especially true of mince meat, fruit cake and plum pudding.

All fruits should be personally selected and prepared the day previous to mixing. The cake is better mixed, turned into the pan and set aside for twenty-four hours to season thoroughly before baking. Fudings and fruit cake are better steamed and the latter baked the last half hour very slowly to brown.

Keep these in a cool moist place. Plum Pudding. Materials—Seeded raisins, three-quarters pound; English currants, one-quarter pound; blanched almonds, one-quarter pound; candied lemon peel, one-quarter pound; candied orange peel, one-quarter pound; suet, one-quarter pound; sifted white bread crumbs, one-half pound; apples, two; granulated sugar, one cup; fruit juice, three-quarter cup; eggs, four; cinnamon, one teaspoonful; salt, one-half teaspoonful; cloves, one-half teaspoonful; brandy, wine glass.

Directions—Cut the raisins, candied fruits and nuts fine; add all the remaining ingredients except the eggs; cover closely and set in a cool place for twenty-four hours. Add the well beaten eggs and pack in buttered, covered bowls or moulds, set into a steamer, cover and steam six hours. Set away as directed until ready for use. Then steam for an hour or two (dependent upon the size) and serve with hard sauce or ice cream.

Black Fruit Cake. Materials—Butter and vegetable fat, two cups; brown sugar, two cups; sour cream, one-half cup; seed raisins, one cup; Sultanas, one cup; currants, one cup; candied pineapple, one cup; sliced almonds, one cup; sliced citron, one cup; pass (dry flour, four cups; soda, one-half teaspoonful; cinnamon, one teaspoonful; nutmeg, one teaspoonful; brandy, one-fourth cup; eggs, five; grated chocolate, two squares.

Directions—Cream the butter and fat well together, gradually adding the sugar, yolks of eggs, cream the seeded raisins cut in two, Sultanas, raisins, candied fruits and nuts dropped well with flour, add flavored honey, soda mixed with flour, melted chocolate and well-beaten whites of eggs. Turn into pans well lined with greased paper, cover and let stand twenty-four hours in a cool place. Steam two hours and bake slowly one-half hour. Put away as directed.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

BETTER by one sweet soul could be beloved. A kingdom of delight to trample thro'—Unloved. —John Oxenham.

SOMETHING ABOUT TEAS.

The making of tea seems a very simple thing; but how few really good cups of tea do we have served us. The first requisite is a shiningly clean tea pot, preferably a crockery one. Have it scalded with boiling water and add a half teaspoonful of tea for every cup of boiling water; set back and steep or draw for three minutes, then serve. A cup of tea made in this way is a refreshing beverage. Cream and sugar are usually served with tea, or slices of lemon with whole cloves are liked by many. The kind of tea (black or green), which is served depends upon the individual taste. Black tea is a milder beverage and contains less tannin than the green. The distinction between black and green tea is due to different methods of preparation, as they both come from the same plant.

The peculiar stimulating properties which tea possesses as well as its flavor depend upon the season of the year when the leaves are picked, the age of the leaf, the variety of the plant and the care in preparation. The aroma of tea is often artificially increased by the addition of orange flowers, jasmine or roses. Tea of young leaves, packed closely, are smaller leaves, and a spoonful makes a stronger beverage than that of coarser leaf.

The water used to make tea is another important feature. It is said the water makes all the difference between the delightful cup of English tea and the kind we have served on this side of the water. We must not give the water too much of the credit, for care in making is another important factor to be considered.

Tea is mildly stimulating to the nervous system, and helps to increase the vital functions of some of the organs. It has been called a food saver, as less food seems to be needed when tea is taken. Thompson in his Dietetics says in a recent report tea is mentioned as a contributing factor to insanity in Ireland. "Undoubtedly the method of preparation and the excessive use of this article of diet, now so general among our poorer population, tends to the production of dyspepsia, which in turn leads to states of mental depression favorable to the production of various forms of neurotic disturbance."

Put the sugar and water into a granite saucepan and stir until the sugar is dissolved. Boil ten minutes; remove from the fire, add the peppermint, and beat until of the right consistency. Drop from the tip of a spoon on slightly buttered paper.

Heart and Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I would greatly appreciate your advice on the following questions:

(1) To settle an argument, would you please tell me which is the most common of sayings: "It stands FOR reason" or "It stands TO reason?"

(2) I have been going with a young man for two years and we are going to be married next May. Both his and my parents are dead and I am keeping house for my two brothers. I do up their white shirts and my brother has asked me as he is displeased with the laundry work. He insists on having the regular laundry price and as he only has one white shirt a week, should I accept pay or should I do it for nothing?

HELGA.

(1) The popular expression is: "It stands to reason." (2) Let him pay you for the work if he wants to. Also, why not let him keep on paying after you are married? You might start it off as a sort of joke, but stick to it seriously as a means of saving money and having something on hand for yourself if anything should happen to him.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Would you please tell me how to remove a rust spot out of cotton goods?

(2) I have boiled a white waist which was worked in black floss and the black faded and left a black spot. Could you tell me how to remove it?

ANXIOUS.

(1) The best method, though it is slow, as it will harm goods the least, is to sprinkle the rust spot with salt, moisten with lemon juice, then lay in the sun. Or get a medicine dropper and some oxalic acid, mix a bowl with one quart water and

BILLY SUNDAY CONVERTS GABY DESLYS?

Billy Sunday and Gaby Deslys.

Gaby Deslys, the little French dancer who got ex-king Manuel into so much trouble when the latter was still occupying the throne of Portugal, is said to have been converted by Billy Sunday, the evangelist. While playing in Pittsburgh the other day she announced that she was going to see Mr. Sunday. She admitted that she had become so worked up over reading his sermons that she had become converted to his ideas.

SARAH BERNHARDT

By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Slawak."

SARAH BERNHARDT was born in France some time after the opening of the Christian era, and became an actress at an early age. She was not beautiful, but she had large luminous eyes and a voice made out of liquid plush velvet and the beating of butterfly wings. She also had two industrious arms, which in passages of great dramatic intensity beat the air into a pale blue haze. And so she became the foremost actress in France.

This was in the early Pleocene era, when the grand parents of the present dramatic stars were getting a start in life. Bernhardt became all the rage, and played the parts of Tosca, Camille and other beautiful but slightly spoiled females with such skill and energy that her managers painted the S. R. C. sign on the theatre doors at the beginning of the season and merely touched it up a little from year to year.

From decade to decade Bernhardt continued to play with great diligence and abandon, recruiting her companies, as her assistants died of old age, from their descendants and adding each year new charms of youth and ingenueness to the old parts. At the age of fifty she was conceded to be the most promising young actress of the country, and new parts full of girlish fascination were written for her in order to display her youth to its fullest advantage.

As Bernhardt gradually grew up to maturity she increased her activities and visited other continents, winning their triumph and playing "Aiglon" in a manner which filled the greatest clubs swimmers and gymnasts of America with awe. She also took up literature, art, sculpture, playwriting, and writing beauty hints for newspapers as a means of occupying her spare time.

When she became a grandmother Bernhardt began a series of farewell visits to America and other portions of the civilized world. This was necessary, for her old admirers were rapidly passing away, and she was not one who could see them go without bidding them goodbye. She has now hidden farewell to practically all the earlier theatre goers, and in a few years will begin a series of grand welcome tours to the rising generations. In the meanwhile she has taken up vaudeville, dress designing, theatre building, acrobacy and animal taming as diversions in her spare time and is rapidly entering the full bloom of maturity and promise.

Tennyson had Bernhardt in mind when he wrote "For men may come and men may go, but I go on forever."

AFTER SICKNESS

Mrs. Gardner Tells How to Restore One's Strength.

So many people are asking how to recover their strength after severe sickness that we are publishing this information for their benefit.

After grippe, pleurisy, pneumonia, or any illness what you need is new strength and better blood.

The most certain way to get this is by taking Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron preparation.

Mrs. M. T. Gardner, Chicago, Ill., says: "After a very serious operation I was a total invalid for nearly a year and a convalescent for months thereafter. I gave the remedies of a number of eminent specialists a thorough trial, but without deriving the slightest benefit. Vinol was recommended. Without the least faith in the merits of the medicine, I took it faithfully, and it seemed to bring back the old color to my cheeks and the elasticity to my step which I had despaired of ever recovering. I can say, conscientiously, that for nervous, run-down people, Vinol is an excellent remedy."

Try a bottle of Vinol. Your money will be returned if it does not restore your vitality and strength. Smith Drug Co., Druggists, Janesville, Wis. P. S. If you have Eczema try our Saxo Salve. We guarantee it.

Every Day Talks for Every Day People

BY FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.

"The day returns by which we date our years." Even though it means added work and expense we all hail its coming with genuine gladness, for who of us does not love Christmas? Sole day in the entire year when the peace not of earth seems to envelop us all, when the Christlike injunction "this more blessed to give than receive" is carried out by many.

Of the numberless ways in which we can give expression to the Christlike spirit, there is none more lastingly than the decoration of our homes. Gift-giving is soon over, as are the other attendant festivities, but the decorations remain all through the season, to tell us again and again that it is Christmas—to remind us of what this day really means.

With the prepared decorations so reasonable as to price is it necessary to say a word as to making them? Still where there is a large family of growing children this work can be done very nicely at home.

If you have a fireplace a wreath of holly in the center above a generous bunch of the same on either end and with the candlesticks that belong there your fireplace is in holiday attire. A wreath above the doors, in the windows; festoons down the stairway, if it be an open one; and over the window ledge and your house is in festive array. Of course individual taste must be called into play; that is, where half the joy of the work comes in.

The children should be allowed to help in this work; also in every part of the Christmas preparations where

INTERESTING TALKS GIVEN BROTHERHOOD

Methodists Hear Addresses on Hawaiian Islands, County Y. M. C. A. and South American Missions.

It would be difficult to crowd more enlightening information into one program than was given last evening the Brotherhood of the Methodist Episcopal church. E. F. Lewis, in his talk on the city of Honolulu and the Hawaiian Islands, which he learned from his recent visit at the earliest possible time. A. Markham, county Y. M. C. A. secretary, outlined the scope of the work of the Y. M. C. A. in the Hawaiian Islands, which he accompanied there. W. H. Thurston of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin, president of the Wisconsin Seventh Day Adventist Conference, and a returned missionary from South America, imparted interesting information on the countries of that continent and the progress of Protestant missions there.

Those who have carried the idea that Honolulu was a Malay village with a thin veneer of civilization and streets and buildings indicating the languor and want of ambition of the tropics were completely disillusioned by the pictures thrown upon the screen by Mr. Lewis and the comments which he accompanied them. There was every indication of the great wealth asserted to exist. Public buildings, churches, and private houses had a distinctive architecture far superior to what is found in most American cities, and expenditures for education, parks, and civic beauty appear to have been profuse. Especially interesting were the pictures of the wonderful plant life and the colored pictures of the Hawaiian people. The waters showed such grotesque and fantastic shapes and coloring that they appeared to be the attempt of a futurist artist to excel the work of the Creator Himself.

County Y. M. C. A. work in Rock County is well started, according to Secretary Markham, and the near future will see its extension into new territory and the expansion of its activities. The work was begun on August 1. At Edgerton there is a group of fourteen boys, twelve of whom came from one to five miles. Milton Junction has two groups, each with its local leader, and there are others at Rock Prairie and Footville. Others will soon be organized at Orfordville and Shiopeere. The secretary arranged to meet with group of boys nearly every evening, but the immediate aim is to select and develop leaders of boys in each community. Groups are to be small enough to permit the leader to do personal work. Activities include the study of the scriptures, debating, bible study, social gatherings and talks of an instructive nature. All this is directed to interest the boys in their own community and develop them into men of character and ability to stay on the farm.

It is probable that a county relay race to Janesville from the different working centers will be held next season. Each boy participating will run a half mile. Entrants will have to pass a physical examination.

Women's rights takes an unusual and unlovely form in South America, said the Rev. Thurston, who spent seven years as a missionary on that continent. Women consider that what is good for the men is good for them, and smoking, tobacco chewing, snuff using, and drinking is practically as common among women as among men. He said the population of Brazil, in which country he was stationed, are unable to read or write. Immorality and crime abound, and dissipation the usual thing among all classes. No one here would want that country put off until tomorrow. The writer recalls seeing issue from a native but one morning chickens, goats, pigs, ducks, and finally the family.

Religion is not so much interested by the government, but it is seldom enjoyed. Persecution of Protestant missionaries and their converts is not infrequent and one missionary was so badly beaten that he died. Conditions are improving, however. Natives, even in the most remote parts of the country, receive the missionaries gladly, and their conversion is whole hearted and genuine. For they lay aside all their prejudices and assimilate to which they are accustomed.

An informal number on the program was the representation of "Uncle Josh" at the Methodist Y. M. C. A. Convention, assisted by the phonographic record of that performance.

An excellent supper was served by the ladies of Circle No. 8.

KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES DISAPPEAR

Chronic Sufferers Always Find Relief From Few Doses.

If you are bothered with backache or rheumatism, have disagreeable, annoying bladder or urinary disorders, contend with—or suffer with any other of the many miseries that come from weak kidneys, here is a guaranteed remedy you can depend upon.

It is a positive fact that Croxone promptly overcomes such disorders.

It soaks right in, cleans out the stopped up kidneys and makes them filter and sift out the poisonous waste matter from the blood. It neutralizes and dissolves the uric acid that lodges in the joints and muscles causing rheumatism, soothes and heals the delicate linings of the bladder.

More than a few doses of Croxone are seldom required to relieve even the obstinate, long standing cases.

You will find Croxone entirely different from all other remedies. It is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it without results. An original package costs but a trifle, and your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price if Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first time.

WARM WEATHER PLAYS HAVOC IN FUR TRADE

Local Dealers Say Prices Are Lower Because of Poor Condition of Market—Waiting for Freeze-up.

Because of the unusual weather that has prevailed during the last month, the fur market has been depressed and no active trade has been made in any of the American or European markets. Janesville for the last few years has become an important market for raw fur but so far this year local dealers have done practically no business because of the instability of the market.

Not only has this condition governed the sale but the fur itself has been of very poor quality and the prices have been lowered to such a point that trapping is unprofitable, especially on such a small scale as it is done in southern Wisconsin. With the exception of muskrats fur should be in demand during the month of December but the few skins that have been sold are of little value.

The guard hairs, which make the skins attractive, have been lacking and the fur is spoiled.

Frank furs, such as civet cat, or striped, promise to be in the leading demand. This will mean a lowering of price to the furmen in this section of the country as the skunk is the only animal found in this section competing with the fox.

According to one of the Janesville dealers, who has just made out his price list, muskrats will not bring over forty cents, the average price being twenty-five. Spring rates will bring a higher price, but the demand for this animal has been less than in previous years. Mink, always a great demand, will bring from two to five dollars, the average being three dollars. The price of the skunk will be listed at three dollars, the most of them selling from seventy-five cents to two dollars. Raccoon, found in limited numbers here, will sell at prices ranging from one to three dollars.

The buying market has been dead since the opening of the season and the dealers unable to get goods enough to make a gain on their investment. Very little trading has been done in this state, as the trappers are waiting until the freeze-up before running their lines. Better condition are looked for immediately after the freeze-up as the fur will be in a better condition and prices will rise.

Plymouth, Dec. 2.—Prepared to strenuously resist any possible attempt by the London authorities to arrest Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, upholders of the new movement for America, members of the W. S. P. U. "police force" gathered here in great numbers, and local officers admittedly are fearful of serious trouble. The government has given no indication of its policy. It is possible that Pankhurst will not again be thrown into prison even though her ticket of leave from Holloway jail has long since expired. If she is permitted to go her way no trouble is looked for in the event of an attempt to arrest her "Gen." Mrs. Florence Drummond, commanding the militant forces here declared that the women would fight.

Classified Want Ad?

"It is simply impossible to get help in the home, I'm so discouraged that I scarce know where to turn," is what an anxious, over-worked mother said to a friend of hers the other afternoon.

Now IS it so hard to get help? I know of a woman—just plain people who advertised for a house-keeper and she received eleven answers. That's true, and six of them she has since secured positions for, in homes right here in this city.

How did she receive so many answers? By simply writing a human advertisement, saying that a kind home and treatment would be given to the one who could qualify for the position.

This mother has growing children, noisy boys and girls; yet she experienced no trouble in securing help.

In most of the answers this was the answer she got, "because you promised a good home and kind treatment." Where we make a mistake when we want aid in our homes is when we forget to put ourselves in the other woman's place.

Write a detailed advertisement; promise kindness and fairness and you will have your ad answered. Try it and see.

THE RATE FOR ADVERTISEMENTS in these classified columns is 1/2 cent a word each insertion. No order for less than 25 cents. The charge rate is 1 cent per word. Advertisements can be given care of Gazette if so desired.

Stop That Cough In A Minute

Would you give morphine or chloroform to your baby or take it yourself? Of course not. Yet most patent cough cures contain one or both. They stop a cough in a minute, which is dangerous. A cough should be cured internally by healing the lungs, loosening the phlegm, throwing it out, which is done by coughing. Badger Cough Balsam does not contain morphine or chloroform. It is made by percolation from bloodroot, lobelia, pine bark, wild cherry, etc. It cures a cough in a few days without filling the lungs with poisonous phlegm. The triad is relieved, the lungs healed, safe for children or old people. Get a bottle today for 25 cents. Badger Cough Balsam is made by Mr. Pleasant, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist. Badger Drug Co., Milwaukee and River Sts.
